LEGAL OPINIONS

By Atty. Rick Manthe
Legal Counsel

ATVs/UTVs on Highways

One common topic town officials want to discuss is all-terrain vehicles (ATV) and utility terrain vehicles (UTV). Clubs representing users of these vehicles or the riders themselves are increasingly requesting to open roads for ATVs/UTVs. This ultimately leads town officials to ask: what can we do? Will we be liable? On top of that recent law changes have modified the landscape of local ATV/UTV rules. Hopefully this information will help shed light on this topic and guide town officials in their decision making process.

Town Board Authority for Opening Highways to ATVs/UTVs

The town board has broad authority to open its highways to ATVs/UTVs. Wis. Stat. § 23.33(8)(b) allows a town or village to designate highways as ATV/UTV routes, or all highways as routes. The town or village may also designate trails as open to ATVs/UTVs. There is a difference between route and trail under the statutes. A route specifically applies to municipal highways open to ATVs, while a trail is any other type of traveling path. Only the town board has the authority to open town roads to ATVs/UTVs. Often the WTA will receive calls that the electors voted at the annual meeting to open all roads to ATVs and the town is wondering how to proceed. A vote by the electors at the annual meeting or even a referendum is not binding. Those votes are advisory only, meaning the town board can consider them, but is not bound by the outcome of the vote. Only the town board can decide to open the highways to ATVs/UTVs.

Process for Opening Highways to ATVs/UTVs

Procedurally, opening highways to ATVs/UTVs is fairly straightforward. The town board must pass an ordinance authorizing ATVs/UTVs to operate on town highways at a properly noticed board meeting. The clerk must then send a copy of the ordinance to the DNR, state patrol, and the county sheriff's office. The town must ensure signs are properly posted on the applicable routes. Further, a recent law change, 2017 Wisconsin Act 87, granted towns limited authority to open highways to ATVs/UTVs even if the highways are not under their jurisdiction. Act 87 provides that towns may enact an ordinance to establish an ATV/UTV route on a highway not under its jurisdiction, but within its territory, if the speed limit is 35 mph or less. This means the town could potentially open a county highway or state highway to ATVs. This authority does not apply to the national system of interstate and defense highway system.

How to Properly Sign ATV/UTV Routes

One Wisconsin Towns Association legislative victory this past session was enacting uniform signing rules for ATV/UTV routes under 2017 Wisconsin Act 193. Prior to Act 193 there were no uniform signing rules. The DNR was required to create standards, but it was left to individual wardens to set signing standards, meaning there were different rules for everyone. Some towns had strict signing requirements, while other areas were more relaxed. Act 193, authored by Representative André Jacque and Senator Rob Cowles, created several signing options to reduce confusion both for municipalities and for ATV/UTV users. If the town opens all town highways to ATVs, it can post signs at all entrances to the town indicating that all town highways are open to ATVs/UTVs. If the town has opened most highways to ATVs/UTVs, but only a handful are closed, then the town may post signs at all entrances to the town stating all highways are open to ATVs/UTVs, unless otherwise indicated. Using this option requires the town to erect signs on highways not open to ATVs/UTVs. Another option for signing the routes is to erect signs on the highway where the route begins, and signs on the highway every time it intersects a trail or route not open to ATVs/UTVs. If there is section of a particular highway that has multiple intersections in a tight group, the town can elect to place the signs every 1/4 mile.

Things to Consider When Opening Highways to ATVs/UTVs

When I first started working at the Towns Association, one of the most surprising things was the amount of questions/calls I received regarding ATVs on highways. This goes to show how contentious the issue can become. There are many considerations that go into the decision making process for ATV/UTV routes.

A frequent concern is whether opening highways to ATVs will make the town liable if there is an accident. Generally speaking, the town is not liable for any accidents just because it chose to open its roads to ATVs/UTVs. Wis. Stat. § 893.80(4) creates immunity from liability for legislative decisions of local governments. Opening roads to ATVs/UTVs falls under this legislative immunity statute. The immunity, however, is not absolute. If the town does not properly maintain required signage or does not fix an extremely unsafe condition, it could be liable for an accident. For example, if a stop sign is missing on an intersection, the town would be liable for an accident. In general, however, the town will be immune from liability.

The town may also want to consider safety issues involved with opening highways to ATVs. The town should look at how busy the highway is and whether opening a highway to ATVs will endanger users. A traffic study is one tool a town could use in helping make the determination. Speed limits also play a role in the decision making process. The town can modify the highway's speed limit under Wis. Stat. 349.11, or it can create a separate speed limit for ATVs/UTVs. These are all consideration the town board can consider.

Cost is another consideration. Towns are responsible for ensuring ATV/UTV routes are properly signed. This means the town bears the cost of purchasing and installing signs. Often a local club will offer to pay the signing costs. This is allowable, but the town should handle installation and maintenance since the town will be liable if signs are not in place.

Ultimately, the decision to open highways to ATVs/UTVs is in the town board's discretion. It can choose to open all highways or select highways. The amount of public participation in the process is also discretionary. The town board can choose to have a public hearing on the issue, or take advisory votes at an annual meeting or referendum.

The Clubhouse Funhouse makes everyone a VIP. This is an inclusive structure that has activities at the ground level for those that may not be ready or easily able to reach the upper tiers. Children can spin the numbers on the Math Panel or take a turn at the Ship's Wheel. Then it might be time for a musical break at the Single Drum or Bongos. Once children are ready, they can begin the journey deeper into the system via the transfer station or take one of the multiple climbers. The Wavy Snake Climber adds a challenge with its there and then gone design and the Pod Climber allows children to climb as they want with its stacked pieces. Once on the upper echelons, they can run across the alternating rods of the Bones Bridge, take a journey across on the Straight Overhead Snake Loop Ladder only to hang from the Swinging Rings. For those that elected to stay at the top, they have four different slides at their disposal. Choose your Clubhouse colors when you place your order to create the perfect place for your community's children.

1 DISCOVERY

We'll learn about your project needs, as well as your organization's overall goals.

2 RECEIVE QUOTE & CONCEPTUAL RENDERINGS

We'll provide quotes, and when necessary, conceptual renderings. Depending on the size of the project, renderings may take up to a week to complete.

3 QUOTE APPROVAL

You approve the quote.

4 FINAL ARTWORK APPROVAL

All custom configured products require a detailed proof approval before the order is released into production. In addition, you may receive engineering drawings for modified or custom products. The detailed proof/engineering drawing must be approved via our online proofing software, ProofHQ.

5 ORDER CONFIRMATION & PAYMENT

After the quote has been approved, you'll receive an order confirmation contract, production schedule details, shipping and delivery information, and any special delivery instructions. Orders over $20,000 require 25% down payment. First order cycles require payment in full.

6 PRODUCTION BEGINS

Your order is scheduled with an estimated ship date (usually 4-6 weeks following the artwork approval, depending on workload). If necessary, the deposit is due before production. During the production process, you can contact us at any time for order status updates.

7 SHIPPED WITH TRACKING INFO

After the shipment is complete and ready to be shipped, you will receive tracking information for the shipment. All orders are shipped from our headquarters in Irvine, CA. Transit time is approximately 2-4 days, depending on location.
